DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-5, 8-16, 19-22 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hileman (U.S. 6,052,285).

Hileman discloses a cooling system comprising a cooling system having an active component (44) and a passive cooling arrangement (26) comprising all of the applicant's claimed and disclosed limitation of the instant invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 6, 7, 17, 18, 23 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hileman (U.S. 6,052,285) in view of Yamamoto et al. (U.S. 4,729,060).

Hileman's invention discloses all of the claimed limitations from above except for the active cooling component including liquid metal cooling, and wherein the liquid coolant is liquid metal; and the liquid metal includes one of Indium (In), Gallium (Ga), or a mixture of Indium and Gallium with trace amounts of other metals.

However, Yamamoto teaches a cooling system that uses liquid metal coolant, wherein the active cooling component includes liquid metal cooling, and wherein the liquid coolant is liquid metal; and wherein the liquid metal includes one of Indium (In), Gallium (Ga), or a mixture of Indium and Gallium with trace amounts of other Metals (column 3, lines 34-38).

Given the teachings of Yamamoto, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the cooling system of Hileman with the active cooling component including liquid metal cooling, and wherein the liquid coolant is liquid metal; and wherein the liquid metal includes one of Indium (In), Gallium (Ga), or a mixture of Indium and Gallium with trace amounts of other metals.

Doing so would provide an alternate improved cooling fluid for heat transfer.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The following references cited on the USPTO 892 discloses related limitations of the applicant's claimed and disclosed invention.
